Messer

The Choctaw Herald January 26, 1911 - transcribed by Ron Henson

A good heavy rain fell here last week which was duly appreciated by farmers in this section.

Eli Maize, a prominent and well-to-do farmer of Messer, injured his eye with a whip. While it is not necessarily serious it is painful.

Farmers can now begin their plowing. The ground is thoroughly soaked and everything looks well for a heavy crop.

The infant child of C.G. Messer is quite sick.

S.F. Mauldin, our prosperous merchant, was in Hugo Wednesday for a heavy supply of groceries.

Our section of the country is rapidly pushing itself to the front. Come to Messer.

County Superintendent J.T. Reed visited our school last Wednesday.

Farmers wishing to better themselves should come to Messer. Fine land can be bought in this community at very low price.
