

After Leaving Jackson Road Will Have Only One Corner

The Hugo Daily News February 11, 1937 – transcribed by Ron Henson

Work is progressing very rapidly on the improvement of the new road to Mt. Olivet cemetery. A crew of WPA workers are working on the dump and gutter and with the continued fair weather the work will be completed at an early date.

The new route follows Third street from the pavement at Lowery to east Trice street, which is just south of the third ward school building. From there it run east to the cemetery.

The right of way across the Burgoyne track has been cleared and will be graded next week, according to a statement by E.M. Durland, county commissioner.

With the new alignment there will be only one corner in the road after it leaves Jackson street. That will be at the corner of south Third and east Trice.

Gravel will be placed on the road as soon as the new dump has sufficiently settled.
