

Hanselman Draws Five-Year Term

Plea Of Guilty To Manslaughter Charge Brings Sentence

The Hugo Daily News March 15, 1937 – transcribed by Ron Henson

A plea of guilty to manslaughter charges was entered today by Robert Hanselman and a five year penitentiary sentence was pronounced by Judge George R. Childers in district court here.

Hanselman has been held in the county jail since Feb. 20, when a truck he was driving ran over and killed Mrs. T.W. Mitchell. He allegedly was drunk when the accident occurred and did not stop. Police arrested him three hours later.

A number of civil cases were on the docket for District court, which was in session today. Several divorce cases were slated.
