

A.M. Hughes is Owner Hugo Furniture Co.

The Hugo Daily News December 11, 1939

Transcribed by Ron Henson

The Rodgers-Wade Furniture Company has this day sold to A.M. Hughes a complete stock of new furniture, according to Harry Ordway, of the Rodgers-Wade Furniture company. Mr. Hughes has leased the building formerly occupied by the Hugo Furniture Company. The Rodgers-Wade Furniture Company is with-drawing from the retail business in this city.

Mr. Hughes states that his store is now open for business with the same personnel maintained by the Hugo Furniture store. He welcomes customers who may come either to look at his merchandise or to buy. He further adds that he will be glad to sell furniture for cash if you have it or credit if you want it.

Mr. Hughes' new store will be known as the Hugo Furniture Company, Unine.