

Gene Henson Injured
Henson Boy Injured When Car Turns Over
The Hugo Daily News July 28, 1946 - transcribed by Ron Henson

Gene Henson, son of Mr. and Mrs Joe Henson, suffered head injuries and was rendered unconscious when the Army surplus car he was driving turned over several times near the Shoat Springs school house about 9:45 p.m. Friday.

A Coffey ambulance rushed him to Johnson Hospital where it was reported by Dr. Floyd Waters that he was still unconscious at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Witnesses to the accident said that the car turned crossways in the road and turned several flips.
