Hugo, Okla., April 5-(Special.)-

St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train No. 715 plunged through a bridge between Goodland and Hamden, this county, today, killing C. A. Welch, an express messenger of Monett, Mo. and injuring thirty-two passengers.

The train was enroute from Paris, Texas to Monett. The bridge had been weakened by a washout resulting from a heavy rain last night. Four panels of the structure collapsed under the weight of the locomotive as it rushed onto the bridge at a speed estimated at thirty miles an hour. The engine went into the swollen stream, followed by the baggage car, day coach and chair car. The bridge was about 20 feet high and 125 feet long.

A relief train with surgeons was rushed to the scene from Hugo. Many of the injured have been brought here for treatment. None of them will die, it is thought.
